CITIZENS HOLD INDIGNATION MEETING HEAR COMPLAINTS ON PHONE RATES

Complaints on Phone Rates Being Heard

Five Attorneys Representing 108 Municipalities To Present Testimony

Harrisburg, Pa., Sept. 8—Monessen is representing amongst the 108 municipalities that are today presenting their case to the Public Service Commission here against the increase in rates of teh Bell Telephone company. Owing to the number of complaints filed by the various communities and individuals, five attorneys including Vernon Hazzard of Monongahela City will testify for the municipalities and attempt to secure a reduction in the present rates of he company.

The increase in rates went into affect last April and it is stated that rebates amounting to approximately $100,000 would be secured for subscribers should the Commission act favorably for the complaintants who have been paying the increase for the past six months. In addition to the complaints against the increase many of the municipalities are protesting against the curtailment of free zones. Under the new arrangement subscribers in this city are compelled to pay a five cent toll for connections with Monongahela City, with Charleroi, Donora and Belle Vernon still on the free list although the surrounding towns are not so fortunate, especially Monongahela City which is now paying for all outside toll calls.

Will Naturalize Millions of Aliens

(By United Press)

Washington, Sept. 8—Twenty-four state legislatures will be asked this winter to pass "Americanization legislation" by the Department of Labor in its effort to make citizens of the 8,000,000 unnaturalized aliens.

This announcement was made today by Raymond F. Crisp, director of Citizenship for the Labor Department, who said 24 states have already made appropriations for Americanization classes and schools" which are now being conducted in 2,975 committees.

"It will take provably ten years to make the United States really "one hundred per cent American." Crisp stated.

The report of the citizenship bureau for the twelve months ending June 30 this year is expected to show that 1,250,000 aliens have been naturalized or taken preliminary steps to acquire citizenship, a record in the history of naturalization.

Towns Destroyed

(By United Press)

Rome, Sept. 8—(10:30 A M)—The casualty list resulting from yesterday's earthquake in North Central Italy was growing today as additional reports were received.

Relief parties sent word that the towns of Quercia Molass and Tarasco had been completely wiped out. The whole region around Spezia was said to have been seriously damaged.

Signor Bertini under secretary of Public works, has left for the devastated area to personally supervise relief work.

Would Favor Release

(By United Press)

London, Sept. 8—The British cabinet today announced that they were willing to release Lord Mayor MacSwiney from prison providing that they were given assurance from some reliable Irishman that the murder of policemen would cease in Ireland. MacSwiney is entering on the 28th day of his hunger strike.

Call State Troopers to Disperse Rioters

(By United Press)

Wilkesbarre, Pa., Sept. 8—Rioting broke out this morning between striking coal miners and railroad employees at Pittston and State Troopers were called to disperse the crowds. Many of the strikers were cut and bruised but none seriously injured. One lone woman, who participated in the fighting escaped without injury.

The trouble started shortly before six o'clock this morning at the Pittston station of the Delaware & Hudson railroad when striking miners stopped striking employes of the Pennsylvania Coal company who were working as members of a section gang on the railroad.

Hope for Settlement

Harrisburg—Questions involved in the distribution of open-top coal cars to bituminous operators not having tipples of their own tracks and who load from wagons, will be brought to what the Public Service Commission hopes will be the final issue, probably on September 22. This date has been set for a hearing and notices will go out within a few days for the sittings to be held in Harrisburg.

Washington—Decided improvement in the car situation was indicated by figures made public tonight by the Car Service Commission, showing that 944,256 freight cars were loaded during the week ending August 21. This was the heaviest car movement for the year, according to the commission, and nearly approached the number of cars loaded for any one week during the war.

—Mrs. Walter Allison of Knox avenue left last Saturday for Cleveland, Ohio where she was called by the serious illness of her sister, Mrs. Jack White. Mrs. White will be remembered as Miss Catherine Davis, a Monessen girl who was married a few years ago to Mr. White. Some time ago she contracted pneumonia which later developed into other ailments and is reported to be in a critical condition. Mr. White while here was employed at the Fleming Barber shop on Donner avenue.

Highway Department To Check Up Autoists

Harrisburg, Pa., Sept. 8 — The Automobile Division of the State Highway department finds that a great many persons disposing of their automobiles fail to make out the necessary vendor affidavits which according to the law must be delivered to the purchaser. The latter not having this affidavit is unable to register his car with the State Highway department even though the purchaser files with the Automobile Division the necessary vendor affidavit covering acquisition of the car.

The same condition exists, the department finds, where a dealer takes a second-hand car in trade, he dealer failing to get the vendor affidavit from the seller and in a number of cases the dealer failing to file the vendor and vendee affidavits, with the fee of $2.50 with the department.

The Registrar of the Automobile Division said today:

"Some dealers think that because they have a second hand dealers' license it is not necessary to file vendor and vendee affidavits when they get possession of a second-hand motor car from a seller. The department is making a campaign on this violation of the automobile law and many informations are being made before magistrates. The failure of the vendor to supply the necessary affidavits to the vendee is punishable by a fine of $100 to $200 or imprisonment for three to six months. Failure of the vendee to file the vendee affidavit is punishable by a fine of $200 to $1,000, or imprisonment for one to three years."

NORTH BELLE VERNON CITIZENS UP IN ARMS OVER SCHOOL CONDITIONS IN BOROUGH

A public indignation meeting of citizens of North Belle Vernon borough was held last evening in the school building at which time a number of citizens met with members of the school board to protest against the fact that they were compelled to send their children out of the borough in order to attend High school.

The matter has been hanging fire for some time in the little borough and the parents called the meeting last evening in order that initial steps could be taken to remedy affairs. Last year the retiring school board realizing that with the opening of the new school term all the rooms would be crowded with grade pupils decided to eliminate the High school.

The newly elected members of the school board found this situation facing them at the opening of the term this year and with no provisions to remedy the situation and consequently seventy children from the borough were compelled to attend the higher grades in this city.

With the increase in the street car fares making the daily cost for transportation of each pupil from that borough to this city 28 cents, it has become a matter of worry for some of the parents, especially those who have two or three children attending school here as the monthly cost of transportation averages over $15.00, and this coupled with the cost of lunches and the fact that they are paying school tax in their own borough makes it a costly venture in order to finish the education of their children. The parents are up in arms over present conditions and are going to put forth every effort to compel the school board to establish a High school within the borough limits or at least to help defray the expenses incurred in sending the children out of town to complete their education.

SENATOR HARDING MAKES FIRST STUMP SPEECH AT MINNESOTA STATE FAIR TODAY

State Fair Grounds, St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 8—America must stand on her own feet, agriculturally, industrially and politically, Warren G. Harding declared in a speech at the Minnesota state fair here today.

"We are now the guarantors of our own security," he added. "Agriculture is menaced by evils which demand, not quick remedies, but careful study and proper action," the Republican nominee continued.

"Unless we deal aright fairly," he warned "there may come a conflict between the organized farmers in the surplus producing states and those who insist on buying their crops below production costs.

"We need fewer land holdings who menace our future and more farm lords and barons" Harding said. "We need less legislement in cultivating a quickened sense of duties and more consideration for farming as our basic industry. We need rest and recreation for a soil worked out in capital and more and better harvests in the inviting fields of mutual understanding.

Harding put seven planks in his agricultural platform today—farm representation in governmental affairs; encouragement of the co-operative organizations; a system to supply and assist toward stabilizing prices of farm products; cessation of attempts at profiteering on foodstuffs; expansion of federal farm loan acts to aid farmers in purchase of tools; most effective transportation possible; revision of the tariff to protect the American farmer.

Harding's speech today was the first outside of Ohio since he became the Republican presidential candidate. Although invited to come to Minnesota party leaders in view of the political situation here in reference to the non-partisan league, his speech was without reference to partisan politics. He stressed the needs of the farmer and the country.

The government should do everything possible toward reclaiming the arid lands, he declared, and grain production should be encouraged through a system of scientific American methods. The United States, he declared, is capable of supplying not only its own requirements but also to posterity, and he declared that if enough "by every possible means" if necessary, to feed the world.

"I have no doubt that the government can elaborate standards and thereby to farmers of the country.

"That would be to Americanize our national policy, to put the welfare of the farmer on a national plane, to put the nation's agriculture on a par with the industrial and commercial interests of the country."

Having again voiced his regret [illegible] Harding turned to the tariff question, declaring [illegible] the farmers' interests [illegible] the tariff question [illegible] the farmer [illegible] seven years [illegible] all the [illegible] thing possible [illegible] the farmer [illegible] and grain [illegible] a tariff [illegible]

THE STRIKE FEVER

As a whole the country is much freer from labor troubles than it was some months ago. But once in a while the strike spirit blazes out, and does enormous injury to the general public.

Wage earners sometimes think that if they get higher wages, it comes out of the capitalists. But the capitalists simply add the charge to their prices, so that the general public pays it all. And prices keep on going just as fast as wages, and usually faster. It would not do the workers of the country a particle of good to double their wages over the present level. Prices would more than double.

The advances in prices necessitated by the raises in wages greatly increase the amount of capital necessary to do business Employers are not able to borrow these largely increased amounts of money, as there is not capital enough in the country to loan. An inflated price level discourages buying and leads to shut downs of factories

Wage earners sometimes say that the only way they can get justice is by striking. That is sometimes true But much more frequently it is true that a strike ties up production, creates a scarcity, and enables the profiteers to get any old price for their goods. The strike is a two edged weapon that is very apt to hurt the person who uses it. There should be some better way of adjusting grievances.

If the present prices for commodities could be cut in two, and wages also reduced one half, everybody would be better off. There would then be capital enough in the country to do business with, and production would not be tied up by inflated credits. While there may be some inequalities that need to be adjusted in the wage level, yet unreasonable demands tie up business and keep prices mounting to still dizzier heights.

THE MOVING BAIT

Hiram Whiffletree got more than a good day's work out of his stubborn mule by tying a bunch of oats a few inches beyond the mule's nose. It was cleverly done. The oats, fastened to a stick, stuck out just so far ahead of the mule, tempted his muleship. They certainly seemed near enough to nibble at, the mule thought

Therefore the mule bestirred himself to faster action.. Stepped a bit livelier, feeling certain that each step would bring him within eating distance of the oats But it didn't! Not a million steps would have brought him any nearer. For the faster he went forward the faster the oats traveled in the same direction.

The mule never did get over the notion that sometime he might catch up with the oats.

But he was only a mule.

There is no little similarity between the mule's endeavor and that of the producing public today. The bunch of oats fastened just beyond reach isn't, somehow, brought any nearer by a raise in wages. For as long as the wage step is made forward, the crafty driver pushes the cost of living just so much farther. Before the wage increase reaches the pay envelope, the price increase has become effective.

And the public jogs along, hopefully confident of sometime catching up with the cost of living.

THE YOUNG SPENDERS

Marriage is a great stabilizer. Many people feel that the worst of the extravagance that has unsettled economic conditions so badly, has been due to reckless spending by unmarried young people, particularly young men.

With the scarcity of factory labor, many fellows scarcely of age, have earned much more than most heads of families used to get. Having no responsibilities, they have thrown money right and life. All this spending where saving is necessary, upsets the business of the country.

As soon as these young fellows get married, a lot of them begin to see the necessity of thrift and settle down to business. If they had only been able to see beyond their noses, they woulud have begun the practice of thrift during the time when money came easy, with so little demanded of them in the way of necessaries.

The railroads were built by the digging of flannel shirted laborers, and they are supported by the still deeper digging in their pockets by the silk shirted travellers.

A lot of the people who leave their front doors and windows carelessly unfastened, are very particular to see that the cellar is locked up tight.

"Goes Broke" in Vaudeville.

It is said that the first man to undertake to produce vaudeville in America was Silas W. Steggs of San Francisco, who inherited $400,000 from his uncle in 1865, and not being used to handling money in large quantities, started in to spend it freely. He went on a trip to Europe and spent most of his time at the Alhambra music hall in London, and launched a project to start the "New York Alhambra." His idea was approved by a number of amusement people, and he hired hundreds of them to come to the United States. But his money ran out and he left his party on a boat in New York bay and disappeared.

The Remedy.

"Oh yes, you can when you take them out in your flivver."

Coal Mining Labratory at Carnagie Tech

The Carnegie Institute of Technology of Pittsburgh is just completing the most elaborate coal mining laboratory in America. The laboratory which will be finished by the opening of the fall term, is located beneath the building of the Diversion of Science and Engineering of the Institute The equipment comprises a full size coal mine—a model mine, only in that it yields no coal—a mine locomotive, and a full set of coal and metal mine machinery, that has been furnished by manufacturers In addition to the mining laboratories proper there will be completely equipped ore dressing and coal washing plant. It is proposed to extend the mine, during the practice work of the students, along such a plan that it can be utilized for carrying some of the steam and water pipes of the Institute.

The department of coal mining engineering was installed only last year. Its development has been rapid. The mine opertaors and miners of the district immediately recognized the value of such an institution, in helping them solve the difficult problems of extracting coal as efficiently and as economically as possible. The operators cooperate actively with the school. Mr. W. A Luce, vice president of the Union Calleries Company is Chairman of a board of mine operators who act in an advisory capacity for the department. Many of the students are experienced miners, used to the actual work in the mines, who have been selected for the opportunity of securing a higher education by virtue of their proven ability. In some cases their tuition is paid by their employers. There is a four year course in mining engineering; a two year course in coal mining and a four weeks summer course in coal mining.

Maine in Midst of Hot Ballot Fight

(By United Press)

Augusta, Me., Sept 8—Maine is now in the throes of a warm political campaign which is being watched with interest by the entire country, as it is the only state in the union which elects a governor, state auditor, members of Congress, county officers and members of the legislature in advance of the national election.

For many years the September vote in Maine has been considered as a barometer throughout the country as to how the people feel towards national affairs.

Maine is generally conceded to be a Republican state, but leading Democrats are confident that their candidates will make a good showing, perhaps winning. The Republicans claim, of course, that they will be successful pointing to the fact that if the votes gets out they will "clean up the state." The Democrats, however, are preparing a strenuous campaign in order to win or to keep the Republican majority as low as possible.

Col. Frederic H. Parkhurst is the Republican candidate for governor, having defeated Gov. Carl E. Milliken, who was seeking a third term, in the primaries. The Democratic nominee is Betrand G. McIntire of Norway, a business man, and former sheriff of Oxford county and for six years chairman of the board of state assessors. He was the candidate against Gov. Milliken two years ago.

The present state auditor, Roy L. Wardwell of this city, is a candidate for re-election while his Democratic opponent is former representative James J. Neilon of Biddeford.

Carroll L. Beedy of Portland is the Republican candidate for re-election in the first district while Congressman Wallace H. White, Jr., of Lewiston, John A Peters of Ellsworth and Ira G. Hersey of Houlton, all Republicans, are candidates for re-election in the second, third and fourth districts. The Democratic candidates for Congress are Frank H. Haskell of Portland in the first district, Wilace N. Price, Richmond, second; Archie Towle of Oakland in the third district and Leon G. C. Brown of Milo in the fourth district.

The Republican list of speakers includes United States Senators Henry Cabot Lodge of Mass., George H. Moses, of New Hampshire, Wm. M. Calder of New York, and Joseph Frelinghuysen of New Jersey; also Col. Theodore Roosevelt, besides many other prominent men from other parts of the country. On the Democratic side, speakers include Secretary of State Bainbridge Colby, Secretary of the Navy Josephus Daniels, Secretary of Agriculture E. T. Meredith, Homer S. Cummings of Connecticut, former chairman of the Democratic national committee, Governor Chas. H. Brough of Arkansas, Governor Alfred Smith of New York, and United States Senator David I. Walsh of Massachusetts.

Democratic leaders will, during the campaign, urge the election of a legislature pledged to provide means by which liquor for medicinal purposes may be obtained in Maine through registered druggists. At the present time there is no legal way by which liquor may be secured in this state nor has there been since the abolition of the agency system by the legislature in 1911.

The vote of the women will be watched with interest this year, but according to political observers, it will make little change in the general result.

This section certainly owes a lot to the automobile

LOOK at it just from the business standpoint, compared with, say, ten years ago—or even five.

Everything speeded up—made easier. Nearly every business man depending on the automobile to transport himself and his products.

II

That is one reason, perhaps, why more attention is being paid to tires—why tire costs are being figured closer and people are beginning to look for better tires.

We believe that people are entitled to better tires—the best they can get.

Not only the man with the big car, but the man with the small car, and the medium sized car.

III

We represent U.S. Tires for that reason—because their policy is the same as ours—every tire as good as you can get it, regardless of the size of the car it is to go on.

It was that policy which led to the introduction of the straight side automobile tire, the pneumatic truck tire.

And you can't beat it.

IV

U. S. Tires are guaranteed for life, with no limitation of mileage.

It will pay you to talk to us about tires, if you are looking at them from a business standpoint.

Select your tires according to the roads they have to travel:

In sandy or hilly country, wherever the going is apt to be heavy—The U. S. Nobby.

For ordinary country roads—The U. S. Chain or Usco.

For front wheels—The U. S. Plain.

For best results—everywhere—U. S. Royal Cords.

King Has Horse Entered For St. Leger Stakes

(By United Press)

Doncaster, Eng., Sept 8—The race for the St. Leger Stakes, the last of the season's races for classic three-year-olds was run today over the customary one mile and three quarters track Betting covered a wide range and despite the presence of the Derby winner, Major G Loder's Spion Kop, in the field, the event was considered very open. Lord Derby's Archaic, second in the Derby, was fancied to turn the tables on his Epsom conqueror, while W. Raphael's Allenby, which broke down while going well in the same race, was reported as fit as ever it had been in its life.

King George had a nice-looking filly named Lemonade, which was expected to run well, and several others were backed by "knowing" circles. The race was worth $30,000 to the winner.
